Dear Josh:

My secretary cannot find a copy of a letter that I believe I wrote to Dick Herrnstein at Harvard. However, she thinks that I talked to him over the telephone. Any statement that I made very probably was quite similar to the enclosed copy of a letter to Gordon Bower at Stanford. The key paragraphs begin at the bottom of the first page and continue to the end.

Unfortunately, I have ^{not} seen Craig for many years and find myself especially unable to give a judgment in which I am highly confident about the particular qualities you are probing for as being especially relevant to the particular type of position that you are describing.

Yours,

Neal E. Miller
